Barcelona, March 7th, 2022

The largest technology event, the Mobile World Congress, welcomed more than 61,000 attendees to its enormous facilities at Fira Barcelona on February 28th and March 1st, 2nd and 3rd. Organized by the GSMA, the event attracted a wide variety of technology companies, suppliers and organizations from the world's biggest and most prestigious industry sectors.

As part of the Mobile World Congress, NUWE was present at 4 Years From Now (4YFN), a space for innovators, creators and leaders to come together and showcase their potential to the most influential executives in the technology sector. And it did it doubly: with its stand where it received more than 50 companies interested in the platform and a considerable number of developers, and as co-organizer of the Hackathon promoted by Mobile World Capital as part of the Barcelona Digital Talent initiative.

The number of participants in the Hackathon was a total of 298 registered developers, 152 of which passed the first online phase, and 21 of these reached the on-site phase as finalists.

All Hackathon finalists were assisted during the competition by mentors from Bayer, NTT DATA, Wolters Kluwer, SEAT, Experis, ManoMano, AGBAR, Ocado Technology, PepsiCo, CaixaBank Tech, i2CAT Foundation, Grupo DKV and CloudBlue.
The jury was made up of technology professionals from Zurich, Bayer, i2CAT Foundation, NTT DATA, AGBAR, Grupo DKV, Ocado Technology, CloudBlue, Experis, ManoMano and CaixaBank Tech.

Finally, the winners of the Hackathon were the following: Erick Ayala (Backend), Alicia Egea (Frontend), Daniel Españadero (Backend), Paula Gual (Data Science), Garikoitz Herrero (Frontend), Vladimir Smirnov (Data Science) and Joao Paulo de Souza (Frontend).
